Coroner Herrman held an inquest, yesterday, in the case of Charles Schwabb, who died at Believue Bospital on Oct. 20 of wounds indicted by Philip Becker. Counselor Hummel appeared for the prisoner. Chas. Danpert of No. 210 Delancey st., testified that on the day of the killing Schwabb was very drunk, and without provocation struck Becker in the face twice, at which Bocker returned two blows on the head. Several other witnesses corroborated this evidence. The jury rendered a verdict finding that Schwabb came to his death from blows struck by Becker, but that Becker acted in self-defense. The prisoner was held in $3,000 ball to await the action of the Grand Jury.

BROOKLYN. The Sinking Fund Commissioners will met at 16 o'elock to-day. It is again removed that the Sheriff of Kings Courty and some Justices of the Peace have been in-sicted by the Grand Jury.

Coroner Jones held an inquest yesterday morning on the body of DeWitt C. Tower, who mitted suicide, on Wedgesday, in Brooklyn. The jury returned a verdict to the effect that deceased came to his death by compression of the brain from hemorrhage within the skull, the result of a pistol-shot wound, fired by his own hand, while laboring under great moutal

The city budget is now in the hands of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, to be apportioned among the several wards. The grand total has been increased since it came from the Board of Estimate, but the Law Department helds that no law has been violated by the numbers of the Joint Board, se the augmentation was due to legislative emartments which made it percuptory on them to insert certain amounts of money for salaries, street onessments, park expenditures, and deficiencies.

ALLEGED WIFE POISONING

A SERVANT GIRL CONFESSES HAVING GIVEN POISON TO HER MISTRESS AT THE INSTIGATION OF THE HUSBAND.

A remarkable case of attempted wife murder or of reckless false swearing came to light yester day in Brooklyn. At 3 a. m. Mr. Atwood, living at No. 515 Flushing-ave., called on Capt. McLaughlin, at the Ninth Precince Station, and stated that Mrs. Harteau, who lived in his house, had a neice at Patchogue. the wife of a Capt. Samuel Smith, a ship-broker of South-at. New-York; that this Mrs. Smith had had poison administer to her by a servant girl at the instigntion of her husband; and that, finding this out, she had come up to Brooklyn. Acting upon this advice, the police visited the present residence of Mrs. Smith, No. 515 Finshing ave. errested the servant girl, Anna Haughton, and took her to the Ninth Precinct Police Station. where she told a remarkable story to Capt. McLaughlin She stated that she met Capt. Smith at No. 41 Tillary-st. Brooklyn, and asked him whether be knew of a place for her. He asked her,if she would like to live in the country, and on the following Saturday took her down to his home at Patchogne. The girl continued:

After I had been there a few days Mrs. Smith was mended, and I had to tend her: I cooked an the meals; one day a Mrs. Margaret Eddan dame into the house—she lived next deer to Mrs. Smith—and gave me a number of powders, and told me to give one of them every day in Mrs. Smith's food; I did so, not thinking that it, was poison, and after Mrs. Smith drauk the tea, in which I but the powder, she was very sick; Afrs. Eddan came to me and said. "How does the powder work!" "It made Mrs. Smith deathly sick." I replied; "Well, never mind; It will do that at first; give her the rest;" so I kept on; I gave her nine powders, and Mr. Smith gave her two, and after I had given my powders they told me that I had given Mrs. Smith poison, but Mr. Smith said; "If you dare say a word about it, I'll see you are all right;" Mr. Smith told me had I'll see you are all right; "Mr. Smith told me had and I'll would fix her of he would give me a hundred dollars, all his wife's slic dresses, and pay my fare out to Calcago; I consented to do this, and gave her more powders, and when I had on the mean and the more powders, and when I had on the said and the Mrs. Smith and P. Reywolds for collector, and C. Tompkins for librarian.

When confronted with the girl-with whom, according to her statement, he has held improper relations—he was apparently surprised, and wanted to know what she was doing there. The detectives then took both of them to Justice Semler's court, where the story of the girl was repeated. Mrs. Smith corroborates the girl's story so far as the facts of her having taken powders and been sick afterward was concerned. She seems inclined to believe, however, in the innocence of her husband. for Smith himself, be declares the whole thing to be

THE HOBOKEN SAVINGS BANK.

A TRIBUNE reporter called at the Hoboken Savings Bank yesterday for the purpose of oblaining a copy of the report of its condition which had been promised to depositors, but found that it was still in the hands of the printer, and that it will not appear within a week, as many books yet remain to be examined be fore a statement can be given. The reporter, however, learned the following facts: By the correction of errors found in the 12,746 books already examined the original apparent defalcation of Mr. Klenan, the former Secretary, has been reduced from $61,767 14 to $52,012 59, and in the 420 books in hand and yet to be examined it is presumed that the latter amount will be somewhat reduced. There also remain in the hands of depositors 720 books, in the examination of which a possible further reduction will be made. Friends of the bank have subscribed toward making Friends of the bank have subscribed toward making good its impaired capital, and it is asserted that if its asserts were now available business would be resumed as soon as Nov. 1. The date of its resumption will, however, depend entirely upon the resumption of Pisk & Hatch, with whom it has $04,000 on deposit. Creditors of the bank seem to generally concede the wisdom of nilowing its officers to adjust its affairs in their own way rather than to institute legal proceedings.

ELECTION OF A BISHOP.

At the special meeting of the House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church yesterday afteruoon, the Rev. John Franklin Spaulding of Eric, Penn., and of the Diocese of Pittsburgh, was unanimously elected Missionary Bishop of Colorado, Wyoming, and New-Mexico, in place of the Right Rev. G. M. Randall, D. D., deceased. Thirty Bishops were in attendance upon the meeting. The Bishop-elect was born in Maine, graduated at Bowdoin College, and born in Maine, graduated at Bowdoin College, and the General Theological Seminary. New-York; has been, for the past ten years, Rector of St. Pauls' Church in Eric, and is now (2) years of age. During his ministry he has met with unusual success as a preacher and re-ligious worker, having greatly increased the member-ship of the church under, his charge, and organized, in the vicinity of Eric, four churches, beside engaging in all missionary enterprises within his reach. His qualifi-cations for this new position are thought to be of a very high order.

At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners held yesterday, President Smith submitted the following resolution, which was seconded by Commissioner Gardner and then passed by the unantmous

The Committee on the annexation of the Westebester towns met, yesterday afternoon, at the Astor Hubse, in order to perfect the details for the submission of that question to the people at the next election.

ceedings on the part of any and all of the detective force implying or tending to prove corrupt or improper practices or act or emission of duty of any description detend unworthy of a policejofficer.

Mr. Hawley, Chief Clerk of the Board, when applied to for information respecting the sources of the information upon which the Board based its resolution, said that the Commissioners had received it from gentlemen whom they deem entirely trustworthy, but it was not thought desirable, nor was it the wish of those gentlemen that their names should be just now made public.

Mr. Allen said to a TRIBUNE reporter yesterday afternoon that he was personally quite willing to furnish the information asked for. But as his knowledge of the improper doings of the detectives relates to the business of the District-Attorney's office he will be influenced in his action upon the resolution of the Police Board by Mr.

OBITUARY.

ADOLPHUS DAVENPORT HOYT.

The death of the actor who was long so familiarly known as "Dolly Davenport" was announced yesterday by telegraph from New-Orleans, where he expired on Oct. 22. His name on the play-bills was A. H. Davenpert. His real name was Adoiphus Davenpert Hoyt. He was born at Stamford, Cono., in 1831, and made his first appearance on the stage in 1848, at Balti more. In the earlier part of his career he acted Claude Melnotle, and the lovers in general, but in his riper years he excelled in such manier juvenile parts as Horatio and Montano, and in characters fraught with grotesque humer. His Dalton, in the "Ticket-of-Leave Man," will be remembered as a particularly telling piece of character, both in its meed of ruffianly awagger and its disguise of mercantile respectability. He acted Finchback exceedingly well, also, in Brougham's comedy. A part of his youth was devoted to the study of law, but he left the bar for the stage, and in 1853 was at the old Broadway Theater. In that year he married Miss Lizzle Weston. They were divorced in 1857—under scandalous circumstances. The lady subsequently became the wife of Mr. Charles Mathews, the comedian. The subsequent career of Dolly Davenport was full of vicissiand trouble. For about ten years post, except for one or two visits to theaters in the North, he has acted in the Southern and South-Western cities. Last season he managed the Mobile Theater Not very long ago he was married to a lady who acted under the name of Miss Frankie McClellan. His efforts to retrieve an impaired fortune, and set himself right with the world, were carnest, manly, and strenuous His constitution and his mental powers, however, had been impaired by trouble and by convivianty, and he failed to arrest the decline which has ended in his death. He was a man of unusual natural talents and of interesting character-amiable, merry, and generous. At one time be was a noted favorite on the New-York stage-more, we fancy, because of these attributes than because of his ability or achievement, though the latter were by no means slight. He had drifted out of popular view. By those who yet remembered him, however, he was deemed a wreck of early promise, and the news of his demise, in the prime of life, cannot fail to stir a sin-

THE FIRE BECORD.

INCENDIABISM IN JERSEY CITY. At 2 a. m. yesterday an explosion, followed by a crash, was heard at the liquor-store of Weish & Launon, at Bay and Groves-sts. Flames were seen burst ing forth an instaut afterward. Officers McGinness and Jackson, who were in the vicinity, hurried to the spot, and bursting open the doors, found the interior of the store in a blaze. The Fire Department was promptly on band, and the flames were soon extinguished. Examination revealed the fact that the place had been purposely set on fire, as the floor was found saturated with kerosene oil in many places, and a portion of it had been taken up. The force of the explosion was sufflerent to blow out the sashes of the front and side win-dows. The inside of the saloon was nearly destroyed dows. The inside of the saloon was nearly destroyed, and but for the prompt action of the Fire Department all traces of the incendiarism would have been obliterated. Chief Engineer Farrier made a careful examination of the premises, and then authorized the arrest of Richard Welsh and James Lamon, the proprietors. The examination of the prisoners was begun yesterday before Justice Seymour. The complaint against them was read, and the examination adjourned until to-day. The prisoners were committed without ball, though it was offered. The premises were heavily insured.

IN WESTCHESTER COUNTY. The barn and stables of Oliver Byrne, auctioneer at Hunt's Point, in the town of West Parms. were totally destroyed by fire on Thursday night. The loss is estimated at $20,000, upon which there was an in-surance of $5,000, one-half in the Continental Company. and the other in the Hanover Company. Among the property destroyed was a valuable prize mowing machine.

The barn and stables of Dr. Sands, at Portchester, were also destroyed by fire on Thursday night. Three horses, one of them valued at $600, perished in the fire.

PLAEWHERE. A fire in Somerville, Mass., yesterday burned the dwelling occupied by Mr. O'Neil, at the corner of Vernon and Pearl-sts., the family narrowly escaping with their lives. Loss, $3,000; insured.
